

BIOETHICS

FORUM 2006

o n

The face of the human condition

April 5th, 2006:

Open Topic: Ethics at the Beginning and at the End of Life

- 5:30 Registration
6:05 Introduction.
Ignacio Segarra, Ph.D.
6:15 “Ethical Issues at the Beginning of Life?”
Natalie Ong, MD.
6:50 Break
7:05 “Ethical Issues at the End of Life”
Ian Leong, MD.
7:40 Open Forum Discussion
Moderator: Alvin Wong, MD.
8:00 Adjourn

About the Speakers

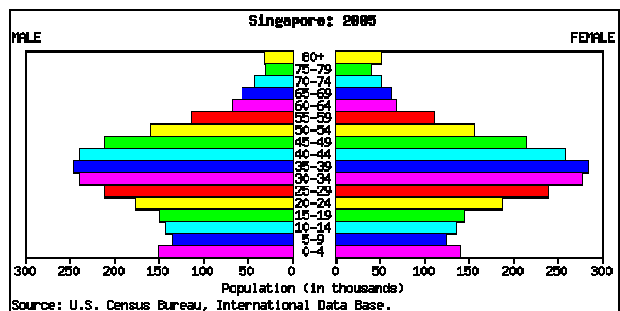

Dr. Natalie Ong is Associate Consultant -Division of Paediatric Neurology and Child Development, Children Medical Institute, NUH. She specializes in children with developmental disorders, leads a multidisciplinary team of health professionals - Child Development Unit Jurong and is interested in autism, learning disorders and programs for families with special needs children. Her interest in the developing child has led her to take up various voluntary programs.

Dr. Ian Leong is Consultant of Geriatric Medicine at Tan Tock Seng Hospital. He trained in elderly pain and palliative care in Melbourne and teaches these areas to medical students and postgraduates. He is interested in community geriatrics and pain in the elderly.

Terri Schiavo has died

Thursday, March 31, 2005 Posted: 10:07 AM EST (1507 GMT)

WASHINGTON (CNN)- Terri Schiavo, the 41-year-old brain-damaged woman who became the centerpiece of a national right to die battle, died Thursday morning, nearly two weeks after doctors removed the feeding tube that had sustained her for more than a decade...

Venue: NUS

Central Library
Theatrette 1 (4th Floor)

www.bioethicsforum.info

For further information contact: Ignacio Segarra at isegarra@hotmail.com